IMPROMPTU RECITALS HELD DAILY.

Any Player Piano will play, but the question here is how will it play? Must it be a Player Piano that they ever did. They are a Player that will enable them easily and simply to play any music, music that can be played as if it were being played by hand.

This is just how PALINOS' PLAYER Piano does. It is simple in operation, offering in previous decades, and sensitive to every feeling of the performer. PALINO'S Player Piano is the first that make them musically and technically free to express their interest to appeal to them. It is not call to-day.

If you have a Piano we shall be pleased to take it on terms. Catalogues are FREE.

If you have an "Angel" in the home the boys and their friends can have music without waiting and they can make their OWN fun.

They can play anything from a rollicking sea song, or a ragtime selection, to let us say, the "Moonlight Sonata," with all the artistry of the master pianists, without ever knowing how to play.

The "Angel" has been called "the ordinary piano if they wish."

MR. FISHER.
NEW HIGH COMMISSIONER.
A LABOUR REPORT.
MELBOURNE, Tuesday.
It has been learned in Federal Labour circles that the Prime Minister (Mr. Fisher) has decided to retire from active politics, and to take up the succession to Sir George Turner as High Commissioner for Australia in London. A meeting of the Federal Cabinet will be held in a few days, and shortly afterwards an official announcement to the above effect may be expected.
It is also understood that Mr. Fisher will retire before Parliament meets on Wednesday, October 27.

the meeting of the Federal Land day, at which Mr. Fisher will preside. Arrangements are being made for a large gathering of delegates to succeed Mr. Fisher. It is a foregone conclusion that Mr. Hughes will be appointed to succeed Mr. Fisher, when handing in his resignation, and that of the Minister, who is expected to be sent to form a new Ministry. It is considered unlikely that Parliament will be adjourned for the Christmas holidays.

ATTORNEY-GENERAL.

A RUSS WRECK.

MR. HUGHES LEAVES FOR MELBOURNE.

The Federal Attorney-General, Mr. W. M. Hughes, left for Melbourne last night, after having busy work in the capital.

It is generally considered that before very long Mr. Fisher will be leaving for London to take up the responsible duties of High Commissioner for the Commonwealth in England, and that Mr. Hughes will then become Attorney-General.

When questioned on the subject of the

at least one brigade of it and possibly more, a counter attack on Lismore, New South Wales, after the British had been attacked down to a finish the embargo on the attack were still breaking out into a periodic blaze.

GETTING IN.

It is useless to attempt to give a detailed historical account of this six days of the attack on Lismore. When the first line reached the enemy's position, the British had been in the trenches for some time, and the men were very tired. The British were apparently inside the trench, and the men were perplexed, some hurt and to run; and in most cases they did not stop at the sender. Like brave men, they then found themselves cornered, they stood at bay and fought their way out, but they were not without a frith of dark passages. It was by constant leaps without headgear and by the dim white daylight filtering through the foliage, large and small, that the bodies of the men were gradually worked their way down the steep, rocky galleries, until there was a shot, and another of them fell or one of a Turk fell just ahead of them. The bodies of the men were found at the end of the trench, and the dead and dead Turks at the other, every one of them.

the opportunity of seeing them march and inspecting their quarters—the kitchen, the mess hall, the latrine, the shower and back in the direction of our own lines. There everything seemed to be most satisfactory. The men were very keen, and the officers were very friendly. I was particularly interested in them last week I visited Liverpool and saw the 1st Battalion of the 1st Canadian Division. Naturally, in a great camp like this, it is continually absorbing more and more men from other units. The arrangements for social classification. The arrangements for cooking were certainly first-class. The arrangements for sleeping were also very good. I was very interested to see how they got to get away."

Hughes, who is now second lieutenant, had been in the camp. He added, however, that he had made a note of several matters.

THE MINERAL EXCHANGE.
Mr. H. H. Hughes also referred briefly to the

The hospital has been under general hospital, housing from 1900 to 1908, are considered. Red Cross workers will be necessary for rebuilding their efforts.

Red Cross stations while in hospital and in transient camps, but when returning to the trenches their scanty supplies of food, clothing, shelter, blankets, and soap, are also supplied.

List supplied by Mr. Knox is as follows:

Second Detachment went to the trench himself and saw to the carrying out of the work. The barracks had been built, the men were housed, the trench was dug, and he was the last in the trench, when he was killed by a bomb. To this day that trench is neutral ground. We do not allow it to be used at the same hot corner. The machine guns were useless at this corner on account of the overhead cover of the capitulation. The difficulty was solved by a young officer—Ogilby—who was acting as machine gunner. He volunteered to go to the trench and statement to assist the troops on their shoulders as the

THE CHAMPAGNE

FRENCH PROGRESS.

Bulgaria is attacking Serbia. The "Times" correspondent at Athens says that the Bulgarians at noon on Monday began to attack Serbia from Gariboghatz towards Kniazehatz (30 miles north-east of Nish, and 10 miles from the Bulgarian frontier).

M. Venizelos (ex-Premier of Greece) said that the House would support the Government in its policy of armed neutrality and vigilance, so long as it adhered to those principles.

"The only question," he went on, "is when to enter the war, since Bulgaria wishes to aggrandise herself at the expense of Greece. Hellenism is doomed should Bulgaria conquer."

The French made further progress in the Champagne north-eastward of Ture. Violent German counter-attacks against the Anglo-French front in the Loos district (south-west of La Bassée) were repulsed.

Herr Kellerman, correspondent of the Berlin "Tageblatt," believes that the whole of the German army in the Champagne must be sacrificed. "The French," he adds, "are attacking along the whole front with unprecedented vigour and courage."

A Russian communique records successful fighting near Drinsk. An Austrian official report says that the Russian offensive has slackened off considerably.

EASTERN FRONT.

RUSSIAN SUCCESS.

IN DIVINSK REGION.

PETROGRAD, Oct. 12. A communique states: Our aeroplanes dropped bombs on several villages south-westward of Divinsk. There was furious and successful fighting at many points near Divinsk. We put the Germans at Gariboghatz to flight. We expelled the enemy from trenches near Divinsk and moved forward to Divinsk and are pursuing them.

We occupied a line from the south-eastern end of Lake Medvedskoe to Lant. Our artillery mercilessly assailed the enemy advancing near the Kovel railway towards Stry.

An obstinate battle before Koki ended in our occupying the third line of the enemy's trenches.

A message from Copenhagen states that the exploit of the British submarine E10 has caused a panic among German shipping in the Baltic Sea.

A submarine, believed to be British, sunk a German collier off Greenland in Norway, 30 miles north-west of Sandness. She also shelled the steamer Germania, which was loaded. The crews were saved.

WESTERN FRONT.

THE CHAMPAGNE.

WHOLE GERMAN ARMY MUST BE SACRIFICED.

ENEMY CORRESPONDENT'S REPORT.

PARIS, Oct. 12. A communique states: The latest information confirms the fact that the violent German counter-attacks against the Anglo-French front during the past few days at Loos (south-west of La Bassée) and northward were costly. Four divisions, which made the principal assault, were completely repulsed and dispersed. The enemy fell in front of the Allied line between 700 and 800 dead.

We made very marked progress in a wood westward of Souchez and eastward of the Rouches Angou road, in the Rouches Valley, and eastward at a redoubt in the Giverny Wood, also on the heights towards La Folie. We took 100 prisoners belonging to the Prussian Guard.

We made further progress in the Champagne north-eastward of Ture (half way between Rouches and Vernois), capturing after a vigorous attack, a whole German war south-eastward of the village on the edge of Giverny Ravine, and taking 100 prisoners.

UNPRECEDENTED VIGOUR.

An Amsterdam message says that Herr Kellerman, correspondent of the Berlin "Tageblatt," states that the French during the last few days fired three million shells. The German losses were heavy. Kellerman believes that the whole of the German army in the Champagne must be sacrificed. He adds that the French are attacking along the whole line with unprecedented vigour and courage.

SIR JOHN FRENCH'S REPORT.

Sir John French, in a despatch dated October 11, reports: Further information shows that the German attack on our front south of La Bassée Canal on the 8th was made with great strength. The main effort was directed against a chalk pit, north of Hill 70, and between Hill 60 and the Hohenzollern redoubt. In the chalk pit attack the enemy assembled behind some woods three hundred to five hundred yards of our trenches. Between these woods and our line of attack they were mowed down by combined rifle, machine-gun, and artillery fire, not a man getting within forty yards of our trenches. Further to the right, in the chalk pit, the quarry, the attack was similarly beaten off with heavy enemy loss. Here our troops, following up the beaten enemy, secured a German trench west of Hill 70.

The enemy only succeeded in penetrating our front line at one point—the south-eastern communique trench of the Hohenzollern redoubt, which is still in our hands. Here he was promptly driven out by bombs. Reserves were not required on any part of the front. It is certain that we inflicted a very severe reverse on the enemy. Our casualties were even fewer than the first line. The German report of the 9th that the British attack north-east of Vernois (south-west of La Bassée) failed with great loss is entirely false. No attacks were made.

There were eleven fights in the air yesterday. Our planes were successful in shooting down the enemy's planes, and were almost certainly destroyed. Today another enemy machine was brought down in our lines. We lost one aeroplane.

NO-TREATING LAW.

OPERATION IN LONDON.

The London No-Treating Law was enforced on Monday in 700 hotels and 200 licensed houses. Immense numbers were made by the public to defeat the new order. Being liable to a penalty of £100, or six months' imprisonment, hotel-keepers adhered to the strict reading of the regulation. Most people were disposed to treat the matter as a joke, and not to advance without merrily laughing at the order by exchanging money on entering and leaving bars. Treating is allowed with meals. Hopeless disagreement prevailed at lunch bars as to whether sand, vinegar, bread, and cheese constituted a meal.

It is believed the regulation will be effective, inasmuch as it will minimise treating saloons.

AMERICA'S ATTITUDE

DR. WILSON'S DEFINITION.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 11. President Wilson, addressing the Congress of the American Revolution, and the United States must keep out of the European war—not to avoid trouble, but to preserve the foundation on which future peace must be built.

America, he declared, must preserve neutrality. American citizens should make it plain whether they for their adopted country came before their sympathies for foreign countries. All Americans ought to rally to the standard of America. America had promised the world to pursue a course founded on justice, and must also preserve the cause of humanity.

ENLARGEMENT OF WAR.

Mr. Garrison (Secretary for War) proposes to enlarge the American standing army to 120,000, the trained reserve to 300,000, with the reorganisation of the national guard to 150,000 men; also to provide proper aeroplane equipment and doubling the artillery ammunition.

Mr. Roosevelt recently stated a campaign in which he vigorously spoke against the United States' unpreparedness, pointing out that America was behind Australia, despite the enormous disparity in population. Whether Congress will approve remains to be seen.

RECRUITING.

LORD DERBY'S SCHEME.

LONDON, Oct. 12. The Parliamentary Recruiting and Labour Committee have considered Lord Derby's scheme for utilising the information on the pink form.

Lord Derby addressed a meeting held in camera, where the scheme was generally approved. An important development in the recruiting movement is expected.

THE BALKAN THEATRE.

An Athens report states that the Bulgarians have invaded Serbia, and are marching upon Kulaevatz, a town on the railway running north-east from Nish to Kulaevatz. Kulaevatz is not shown on the above map, but it lies about midway between Nish and Zajevar. It is 30 miles from Nish, and about 10 miles from the Bulgarian frontier.

GREECE'S ATTITUDE.

STATEMENT BY PREMIER.

LONDON, Oct. 12.

The "Times" correspondent at Athens says that the Bulgarians at noon on Monday began to attack Serbia from Gariboghatz towards Kniazehatz (30 miles north-east of Nish, and 10 miles from the Bulgarian frontier).

A treaty bound Bulgaria, once Serbia was invaded, to attack Serbia in the rear with 100,000 troops.

M. Venizelos (Premier, speaking in the Chamber, stated that the policy of the Government was armed neutrality and vigilance.

M. Venizelos said the House would support the Government while its policy adhered to those principles. His only question was when to enter the war, since Bulgaria wished to aggrandise herself at the expense of Greece. Hellenism was doomed should Bulgaria conquer.

SERVIAN COMMUNIQUE.

A Nish communique states: We repulsed four attacks in the Zaborovetz sector with great vigour.

During the Belgrade fighting we sank an enemy submarine and badly damaged another, which was beached near Sanklin.

All attacks on our positions on the Drina before Radovatz were repulsed with heavy losses.

TERRIBLE SUFFERINGS.

Official advices from Nish state: Considerable forces are operating at the moment, where an entire enemy regiment was annihilated with the bayonet after the Serbian artillery had destroyed a bridge of boats. The main enemy force was engaged at Belgrade, where the inhabitants were taken to surprise and hurriedly fled. The enemy's artillery swept the roads leading to the city.

Refugees from Belgrade speak of a hell of fire, and the terrible sufferings of the inhabitants. Serbian fighting was continued on Saturday in the suburbs south of Belgrade.

"The ground where the Germans landed at Ram," says a Serbian communique, "is now covered with corpses. What else can I do? Germany will be victorious. I am going to France with my advice to the president."

The Minister replied: "I will advise my Government to be prudent after the battle has been decided."

FRENCH PRESS COMMENT.

The French newspapers comment on the underestimation of the western front by the despatch of troops to the Balkans. The Quadruple Entente Powers must co-ordinate their action. The question is what Italy, England, and Russia are prepared to do.

The "Matin," commenting on the official report of the existence of a secret agreement, states that the information comes from M. Venizelos, ex-Premier of Greece, who discovered the agreement since his resignation. The British Legation at Athens considered the information as untrustworthy.

M. Maurice Barres, writing in the "Echo de Paris," declares that the allied armies in the Balkans ought to be distributed after an examination of all the forces. M. Barres quotes Bernhardt's article on the mistakes of the Allies, in which he says that the Quadruple Entente committed a strategic mistake in not co-ordinating their action.

Communication between Belgrade and Nish has been cut.

A Rome message states that the landing of the Allies' troops at Salonica continues.

Salonica telegrams state that 30,000 Allied troops have landed, and are being used to assure communications between Salonica and Serbia.

Italy is now co-operating in the transport and landing of troops, and is likely to take an active part in the Balkan expedition.

NEAR ROUMANIAN FRONTIER.

The "Corriere della Sera" in Milan newspaper says that there are large masses of Austro-German and Bulgarian troops close to the Rumanian frontier.

Refugees at Milan state that 80 Bulgarians were shot on the Black Sea coast for refusing to enlist against Russia.

A Petrograd message states that M. Xadieu has intervened, an officer who was formerly in Bulgaria. He stated: "The Allies must come overwhelmingly from Salonica, prepared to meet 400,000 Bulgarians, who are as good fighters as the Germans. Many were born in Macedonia, and they are determined to reconquer the territory. He estimates that

NEW FRENCH FLEET.

CARRY TWO THREE-INCH CANNON.

PARIS, Oct. 12. A party of Anglo-American journalists inspected a French fleet of two hundred new armoured cannon-carrying aeroplanes, and witnessed their manoeuvring at a great height, and firing three-inch rapid-fire guns. Some of the planes stretch 120 feet across.

A monster battleplane, with a crew of twelve, with two three-inch cannon, flew steadily over the aerodrome. The crew for actual fighting consists of an officer and four men. The cruiser aeroplanes are small bi-planes of high power, capable of rising almost vertically, with a speed of ninety miles an hour. The evolutions are thrilling. The battleplanes maintained a steady fire while the aerodrome and the fleet being almost ready to pounce out an attack on the enemy's rear.

WAR NOTES.

BULGARIA INVADERS SERVA.

The news concerning the Austro-German offensive against Serbia is still meagre, but what there is suggests that the invaders are meeting with such spirited opposition that, so far, very little headway has been made, even where they have crossed the Drina, Save, and Danube into the territory of our little ally. But by far the most important item of news from this region arrived last night in the shape of an Athens report that the Bulgarians had begun their attack upon Serbia, and were making a thrust towards Kulaevatz, a town about 30 miles north-east of Nish. This place is on the railway running from Nish up to the north-eastern corner of Serbia, and is about 100 miles from the frontier. The movement seems to be part of a plan to drive westward towards the Morava Valley, while the Austro-Germans push southward from the Danube, and were making a thrust to isolate the north-western corner of Serbia, which would simplify the establishing of communications between Austria and Bulgaria, through the narrow strip of country separating the two States in that region. But even beyond the immediate military significance of this Bulgarian advance in importance is the question of the effect the invasion of Serbia would have on the Balkan front. The Austro-Germans dislodged the Serbians south-east and south-west of Belgrade. Nine naval guns, 26 field guns, a large quantity of material, and 600 prisoners were captured in Belgrade.

The "Frankfurter Zeitung" says that the Allies are preparing to land forces at Judo Akko. Russia is also preparing to attack Bulgaria.

THE CHAMPAGNE FIGHTING.

Events in the western theatre of war are still developing favourably for the Allies. The French are keeping up their pressure upon the German lines in the Champagne region by means of a series of attacks, and the British and Italian attacks. The latest official reports indicate that they have made a new step forward to the north-east of Ture, and also to the south-east of that town. It will be remembered that Ture is the point on the hill just to the north of it, represents the dominating point for a considerable section of the battle-front in this locality, and the German position is very strong. The French advance is now reported from the north-east as well as the north-west of Ture, when the general trend of the French advance is northward, is due to the sudden assault on the German line, establishing a marked salient in the French line. It is with the object of broadening this salient that the French are battering away at the German position to the north-east and south-east of Ture. As matters stand after the capture of the Ture hill, the immediate front just at this point was far too narrow upon which to make yet another assault. The French are now making a new step forward to the north-east of Ture, and also to the south-east of that town. It will be remembered that Ture is the point on the hill just to the north of it, represents the dominating point for a considerable section of the battle-front in this locality, and the German position is very strong. The French advance is now reported from the north-east as well as the north-west of Ture, when the general trend of the French advance is northward, is due to the sudden assault on the German line, establishing a marked salient in the French line. It is with the object of broadening this salient that the French are battering away at the German position to the north-east and south-east of Ture. As matters stand after the capture of the Ture hill, the immediate front just at this point was far too narrow upon which to make yet another assault.
